Our Grain

The grain we use comes from carefully selected farms here in the UK. We mill wheat, rye and spelt which is organic, meaning no artificial fertilisers and fewer pesticides are used.

Our Flour

We produce a variety of organic stoneground flour. You can buy them all at the mill shop in a variety of pack sizes. Contact us to find out more about deliveries or mail order.

Experience the Mill

When the mill is in action, chat to our millers about what they do. At other times, you're welcome to explore the mill on your own too.

Born to Bake!

Check out the fantastic creations of our bakers. From home enthusiasts to master bakers, and from cafes to patisseries, our flour is a real favourite.

Strolls, views, water and wildlife

Our reservoir has been here for over 220 years. It was built to provide water for a new canal as local industry grew. It's now the perfect place to stroll, enjoy amazing views and discover nature.

The Bird Hide

Our bird hide screen was created by artist Dan Jones, with funding from the Arts Council. Find it on the north side of the reservoir. Stay a while. Spot birds that live here and others stopping by.

A haven for wildlife

Our reservoir, wet woodlands and meadows are important habitats for lots of species including willow tits, harvest mice and chimney sweeper moths. We have lots of bats too!

Our reservoir and woodland have been awarded SSSI status (Site of Special Scientific Interest)

Wigfield Farm & Trans Pennine Trail

Just to the north of the reservoir and a short walk away, you'll find Wigfield Farm – a real family favourite, a working farm with lots to do and animal friends to meet.

Millers Tea Room

A Millennium of Milling

Millers have produced flour here, using traditional methods, for around 400 years.

Our new visitor space offers a place to discover more about the Mill's fascinating past.

The oldest part of our mill dates back to 1625. As the Industrial Revolution swept through South Yorkshire, the mill got bigger.
